ART PAPERS RECEIVES GRANT OF $15,000 FROM THE AMERICAN CENTER FOUNDATION

(May 14, 2007, ATLANTA) – ART PAPERS is delighted to announce the receipt of a $15,000 grant from the American Center Foundation for its new website, to be launched later this year.

Based in New York, the American Center Foundation is an independent foundation dedicated to the promotion of contemporary art. The Foundation supports “risk-taking work and experimental thinking” by awarding discretionary grants to projects that demonstrate “creative breakthroughs and innovation.” This grant is awarded in recognition of “the outstanding quality and significance” of ART PAPERS’ work.

“The support of the American Center Foundation could not come at a better time for our organization. We’re thrilled to be able to position ART PAPERS at the forefront of the next generation of electronic publishing through our new website,” says Sylvie Fortin, Acting Executive Director of Art Papers. “This new website will complement our print magazine by delivering our archives as well as exciting new web-specific contents. ART PAPERS is reconfiguring itself into a multi-platform publication. We have tremendous momentum, a renewed sense of direction, and widespread support from our readers and collaborators across America and in 40 other countries. We’re proud to join the American Center Foundation’s illustrious group of grantees.”
